

LEADERSHIP CHANGES AT ALVARADO PARKWAY INSTITUTE

Announcing our NEW CEO
Maureen Womack

"I am delighted to take on the role of CEO at Alvarado Parkway Institute (API). It's a challenging, yet exciting time for Behavioral Healthcare organizations, in San Diego and across the country as the needs for mental health and substance use disorder treatments continue to rise. I look forward to working with the excellent team of dedicated professionals at API as we continue delivering excellent care and treatment focused on client outcomes and client experience."

- MAUREEN WOMACK, INCOMING CEO, ALVARADO PARKWAY INSTITUTE

SAN DIEGO, CA – DECEMBER 17, 2021 – Alvarado Parkway Institute Behavioral Health System, a psychiatric and substance use disorder treatment facility, today announced the appointment of Maureen Womack as the new CEO. Maureen brings 25-plus years' experience in leadership roles opening free standing for-profit and not-for-profit psychiatric hospitals and psychiatric emergency services, a large for-profit and not-for-profit regional behavioral health system, community health systems, and healthcare marketing.

She is a proven visionary in successfully designing a roadmap for healthcare systems to become patient-centered, data driven, integrated, and focused on early intervention and health.

Maureen is excited to relocate to San Diego from Bozeman Montana and will be officially joining the API family on January 3, 2022 as CEO.

Dr. Andrew Noorollah will now serve as Chief Operations Officer (COO) for API. Dr. Noorollah brings a wealth of knowledge in the field of behavioral health. Previously serving as the Executive Director of Inpatient Services, Andrew brings over 30 years in Behavioral Healthcare serving as Executive Director of Outpatient Services, Executive Director of Clinical Services, Executive Director of Inpatient Services, and Director of Psychology within the API organization.

Josh Tolman, Chief Administrative Officer for Mountain View Hospital, Idaho Falls, Idaho, who also serves on API's Board of Directors said, "As staffing and other challenges continue to face Behavioral Healthcare providers, there is a need for organizations to apply innovative, efficient, results oriented approaches to the delivery of care to meet the ever-growing need of those seeking services. With the visionary leadership of Maureen as CEO and Dr. Noorollah's institutional knowledge and commitment to delivering excellent care as COO, we are confident in our ability to meet the current marketplace needs."

ABOUT API:

Alvarado Parkway Institute Behavioral Health System is focused on meeting the needs of the whole patient by providing a Continuum of Care. The current system includes a 66-bed inpatient hospital, Partial Hospitalization and Outpatient services, three Intensive Outpatient facilities, Jackson House, a short-term crisis residential treatment program and recovery center, Promontory, an In-home Healthcare practice, and 4Front Pharmacy, a full-service pharmacy with an emphasis on behavioral health and addictive disorder needs. For more information on API visit <https://www.apibhs.com>.